DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 6-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kobayashi et al.(U.S. Patent No. 5,475,537) in view of Choi(U.S. Patent No. 5,940,360).

Regarding claim 6, Kobayashi et al. discloses; wherein the imaging lens is made from an object side thereof a first lens element(fig 1, 3), being a positive meniscus lens element convex on the image side(table 1, surface 1, surface 2); an aperture stop(fig 1, 5), and a second lens element being a bi convex positive lens element(fig 1, 2; table 1, surfaces 3 and 4). Kobayashi et al. does not disclose an image sensing device that converts the optical image formed by the imaging lens system into an electronic system disposed on the image side of the imaging lens system. However, Choi discloses an image sensing device disposed on the image side of the imaging lens system (fig 2, 190) that converts the optical image formed by the imaging lens system(fig 2, 170) into an electronic system and thus positioning the two light sources(fig 2, 130, 140) off of the optical axis, of different wavelengths, so as to reads discs of two types having different densities(col 1). It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to use an image sensing device disposed on the image side of the imaging lens system as shown by Choi, in the optical pickup device of Kobayashi et al., since as shown by Choi, image sensing devices disposed on the image side of the imaging lens system are commonly used in optical pick up devices for reading discs of two types having different densities.

Regarding claim 7, Kobayashi et al. discloses at least one of the first lens element and the second lens element is a glass lens element(col 10, lines 45-50), and wherein at least one surface of the glass lens element is an aspherical surface(example 1, first surface).

Regarding claim 8, Kobayashi et al. discloses each of the first lens element and the second lens element has at least two surfaces(example 1, surfaces 1-4, and wherein at least one surface of the glass lens element is an aspherical surface(example 1, first surface).

Regarding claim 9, Kobayashi et al. discloses the $Bf / f = .234$.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claim 10 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Art Unit: 2873

Claims 1-5, 16, 17, 20-23 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The prior art taken either singularity or in combination fails to anticipate or fairly suggest the limitations of the independent claim, in such a manner that a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102 or 103 would be proper. The prior art fails to teach a combination of all the claimed features as presented in independent claims 1, 6, 16, 20-23, With the important features being; the conditional formulas pertaining to; the distance from the most object side lens surface to an image plane with the image plane coinciding with the image sensing device; or the ratio of the first lens to the overall focal length of the entire system are not found in the prior art. Therefore claims 1-5, 16, 17, 20-23 are allowed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 6-9 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

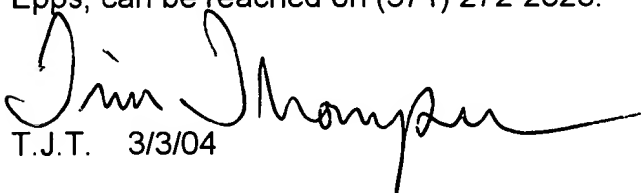

Conclusion

Art Unit: 2873

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
